

Probably the poet's grandchildren, infants of his daughter Sara; she married her cousin, Henry N. Coleridge, in 1829 and came to live in Downshire Hill (? No. 4) until 1837.

They had 4 children here. Though Sara and Henry were buried with her parents in Highgate, the poet did not die until July 1834, so no family grave existed when the twins (?) above died in January 1834.

Sara and Henry are in DNB. Other information from Barratt and G. Wade.