

Barratt III, p. 295 says the Hodgsons were a very old Hempstead family.

The Elms stood on the site of the notorious Mother Huff's teagardene; it was rebuilt c 1875 and later became St Columba's Hospital.