

(The diagram is a plan view of a building, showing the layout of the rooms and the position of the windows and doors.)

The building is a rectangular structure, approximately 10 meters long and 5 meters wide.

The layout of the building is as follows: a central hallway, 2 meters wide, runs the length of the building. On either side of the hallway are two rooms, each 3 meters wide and 4 meters long. At the end of the building, there is a large room, 5 meters wide and 4 meters long, which appears to be a living area or a dining room. There are windows on the long side of the building, and a door at the end of the building.

The building is situated on a plot of land, approximately 15 meters wide and 20 meters long. The building occupies the central portion of the plot. There is a small garden or courtyard area at the front of the building, and a paved area for parking or a driveway at the rear. The building is surrounded by a fence, and there are trees and shrubs in the garden area.

The building is a simple, rectangular structure, built of brick or concrete. It has a pitched roof, and the walls are finished with plaster and paint. The building is in good condition, and appears to be a well-maintained property. The garden area is well-kept, and the paved area is clean and free of debris.

The building is a simple, rectangular structure, built of brick or concrete. It has a pitched roof, and the walls are finished with plaster and paint. The building is in good condition, and appears to be a well-maintained property. The garden area is well-kept, and the paved area is clean and free of debris.

The building is a simple, rectangular structure, built of brick or concrete. It has a pitched roof, and the walls are finished with plaster and paint. The building is in good condition, and appears to be a well-maintained property. The garden area is well-kept, and the paved area is clean and free of debris.

The building is a simple, rectangular structure, built of brick or concrete. It has a pitched roof, and the walls are finished with plaster and paint. The building is in good condition, and appears to be a well-maintained property. The garden area is well-kept, and the paved area is clean and free of debris.