

Year built	1900	Address	1000
Condition	Good	City	London
Notes

See More Streets of Hampstead, p. 75, re Sharpe's Mission Hall in Belsize Lane, and how he, fresh from Canadian backwoods, preached to Belize Tunnel navvies 60 feet below ground.

Notes (e.g. Mr. Sharpe, 1840-1880)
 The above has been described in the following by Mr. Sharpe, who had the only copy.

DESCRIPTION (taken in Belsize Lane, London N.W.2)

The above is a copy of a drawing of a man's profile, which was made by Mr. Sharpe in 1840. The drawing is very faint and lacks detail. It is a profile of a man's head, facing right. The man appears to be wearing a hat or some form of head covering. The drawing is a simple line drawing, possibly a pencil sketch or a very light ink drawing.

This is a copy of a drawing of a man's profile, which was made by Mr. Sharpe in 1840. The drawing is very faint and lacks detail. It is a profile of a man's head, facing right. The man appears to be wearing a hat or some form of head covering. The drawing is a simple line drawing, possibly a pencil sketch or a very light ink drawing.

This is a copy of a drawing of a man's profile, which was made by Mr. Sharpe in 1840. The drawing is very faint and lacks detail. It is a profile of a man's head, facing right. The man appears to be wearing a hat or some form of head covering. The drawing is a simple line drawing, possibly a pencil sketch or a very light ink drawing.

This is a copy of a drawing of a man's profile, which was made by Mr. Sharpe in 1840. The drawing is very faint and lacks detail. It is a profile of a man's head, facing right. The man appears to be wearing a hat or some form of head covering. The drawing is a simple line drawing, possibly a pencil sketch or a very light ink drawing.

This is a copy of a drawing of a man's profile, which was made by Mr. Sharpe in 1840. The drawing is very faint and lacks detail. It is a profile of a man's head, facing right. The man appears to be wearing a hat or some form of head covering. The drawing is a simple line drawing, possibly a pencil sketch or a very light ink drawing.

This is a copy of a drawing of a man's profile, which was made by Mr. Sharpe in 1840. The drawing is very faint and lacks detail. It is a profile of a man's head, facing right. The man appears to be wearing a hat or some form of head covering. The drawing is a simple line drawing, possibly a pencil sketch or a very light ink drawing.